Elementary News

The Kindergarten class enjoyed participating in several activities this year. The class went to the Hastings Museum to see a prehistoric mammal display and to visit the planetarium. Along with the rest of the elementary, they baked cookies for the soldiers fighting in Saudi Arabia. At Thanksgiving the class dressed up as pilgrims and enjoyed sharing food with each other. At the end of the year they visited Mrs. Sandell's home and got to see her animals.

Each student helped take care of the class pets. There were two parakeets named Ninja and Turtle, a guinea pig named Fluffy, and also some goldfish.

This has been a very busy year for the First and Second graders. The students learned to read and participated in the "Book It" reading program. They learned how to add and subtract as well as learned how to tell time and count money.

The students have read many challenging books this year and worked very hard towards earning a pizza party for the class. They learned how to borrow and carry in math and also learned to write their numbers up to 1,000.

Both the First and Second graders have received lots of writing experience by publishing a monthly newspaper called the "Teddy Bear News".

The classes had pen pals with the second graders in the Fullerton Public School. They exchanged letters and gifts, and everyone looked forward to having their Fullerton friends join us for Hawaiian Day.

The Third grade worked very hard this year. In reading they started a new book "Castles of Sand". They learned all of the cursive letters in writing and were very proud of it. The class worked on addition and subtraction problems in math and also worked on telling time, counting money, and learning multiplication facts up to five.

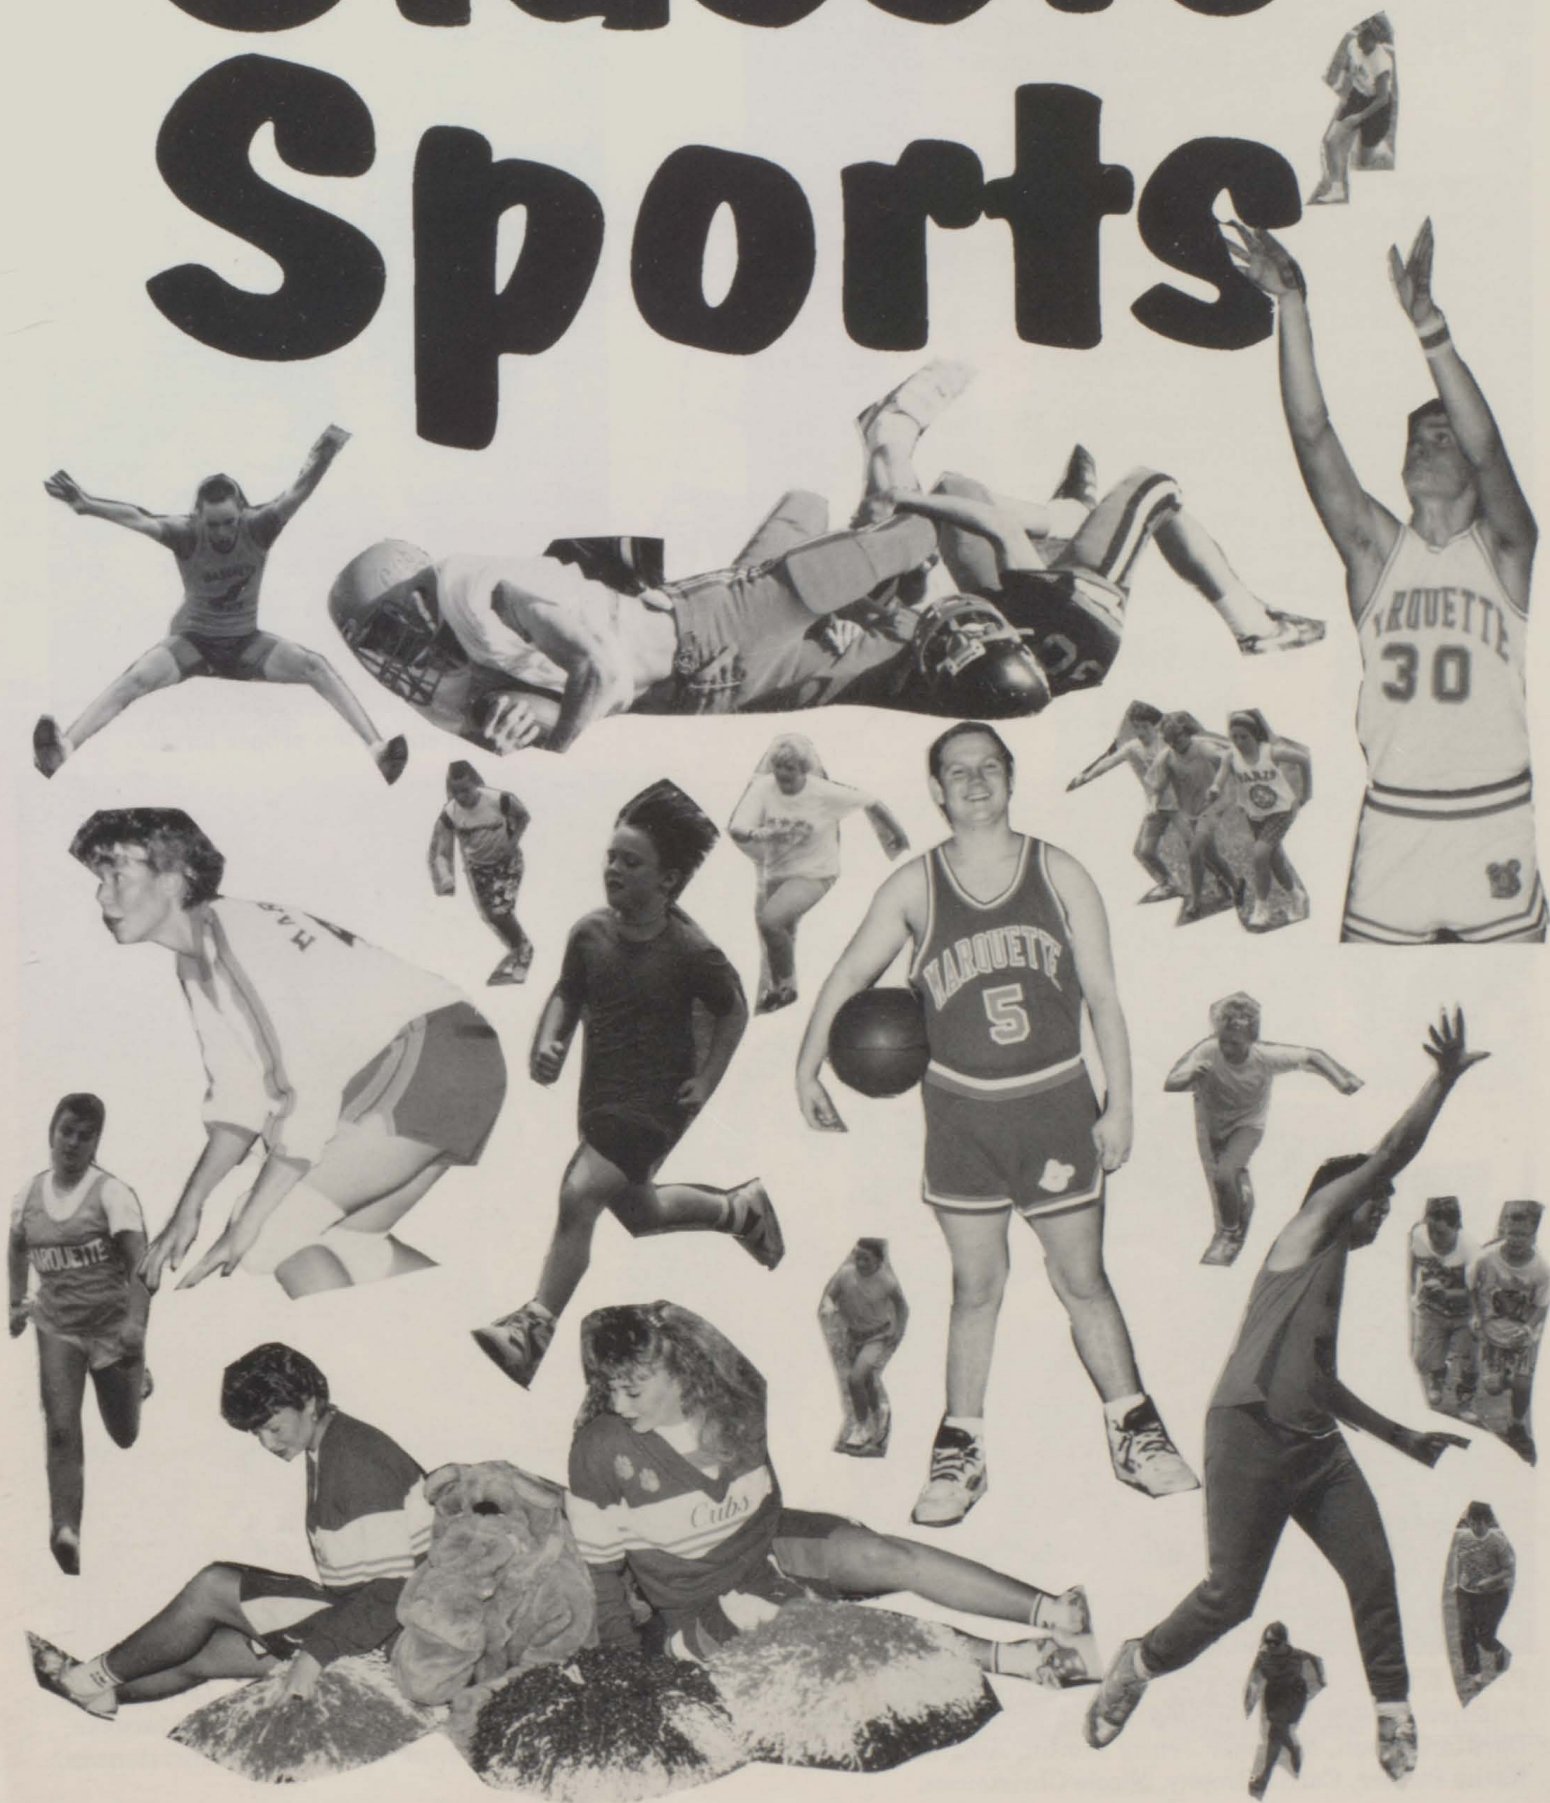

In May they began their biggest project in science, the embryology project. This was a fun project to finish the school year.

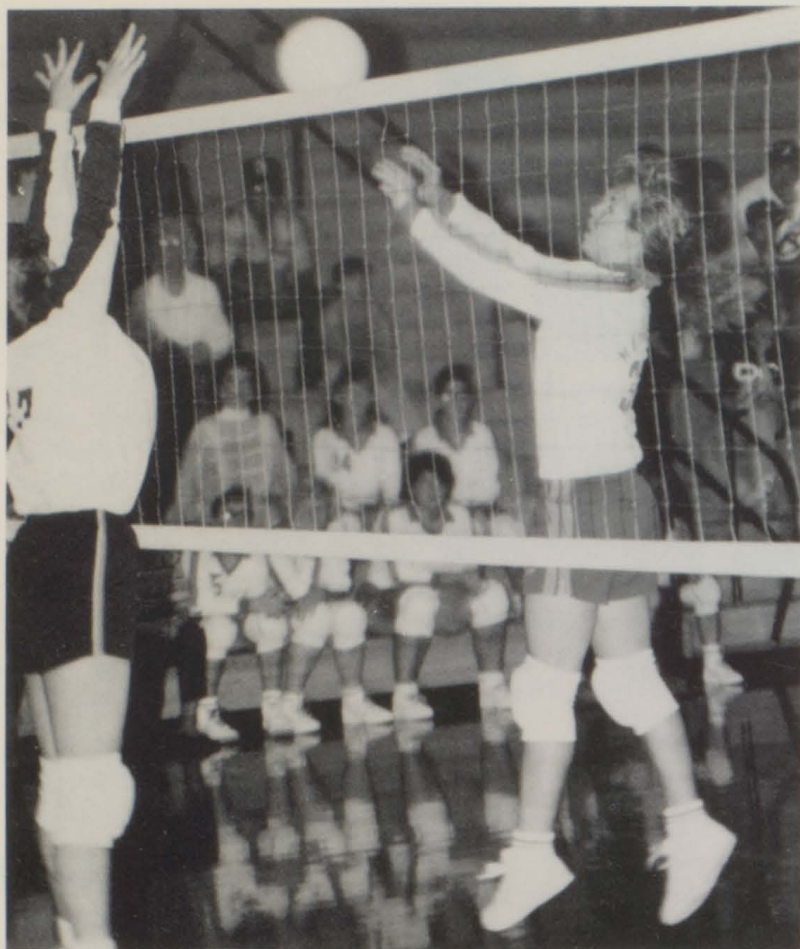

During the 1990-1991 school term, Mrs. Carnes and Mr. Karmann learned to be teachers for grades Four, Five, and Six. Mrs. Carnes taught reading, English, and spelling, while Mr. Karmann taught math, social studies, and science.

The three grades enjoyed many different activities as individual classes and also together. Some of the activities included were: parties for Halloween, Christmas, and Valentine's Day; "Book It" rewards; a Christmas composition sharing for parents; a trip to Omaha for the symphony; participation in the county spelling contest; a field trip to Lincoln; and special guest presentations like the science program from N.P.P.D.

Classic Snap Shots

Student Council

This year for student council was a busy one. They sent out surveys to schools in the area pertaining to student handbook rules, sponsored the homecoming parade, and paid for the production of the sign at the right. This year they also worked to change various rules and regulations in the student handbook that raised concern among many members of the student body. A new juice machine was added to the cafeteria, and quarter treats were granted to students in the lounge during study halls.

Members of student council for 1990-91 representing 7-12 are Peggy S., Jennifer B. - Sec., Kenji L. - Pres., Jennie M. - V. Pres., Jenny C. - Treas., Jim B., Frank J., Shelton C., Kathy P., Melissa M., Ginger J., Jerriid C., and Jeremy S.

National Honor Society

This year the National Honor Society inducted one new member into their chapter. Nicole Christenson was selected on the basis of her leadership, scholarship, character and service qualities. A reception was held in the multipurpose room following the ceremony to honor our new member. The guest speaker during the ceremony was Gwen Brown, former teacher at Marquette High School, now an instructor at Central Community College in Grand Island. Current members are Jennifer Blake, Lonnie Jones, Jennie Mersch, Kenji Lentz, Jason Christenson, Nicole Christenson, Peggy Swanson

Marquette Does Chicago

On March 27, 1991, the science dept. took a 3-day educational trip to Chicago, Ill. To raise money for the trip, we held various raffles during basketball games, sold greenery and Christmas ornaments, held a bake sale, and did lawn work throughout the community. During our trip to Chicago, we visited Shedd Aquarium, Adler Planetarium, Hard Rock Cafe, Rock 'n Roll McDonalds, The Museum of Science and Industry with Omnimax Theater, Sears Tower Sky Deck, and had a sightseeing tour of the city. Members of the science dept. that participated in the trip include: Derek O., Jada M., Lonnie J., Kenny W., Jennifer B., Shelton C., Heather L., Kevin C., Carrie B., Brenda K., Dan F., Brooke C., Jamie M., Amelia N., Ryan N., Jeff A., Jennie M., Kenji L., Peggy S., Don A., Jenny C., Jim B., Kelli P., Kathy P., Dara A., Dack B., Levi R., Jason C., and Brent J. This year's cheerleaders started off the great year by participating in the International Cheerleading Foundation Camp at Kearney State College. The girls learned many new skills and experiences in cheering, dance routines, and performed in many daily competitions. The girls won a total of thirteen awards in their competitions at their four day camp. They included: Three awards for excellent entrance and exiting of their cheers. Three awards for creativity in the cheers and skits. Three awards for gymnastics and jumps used in their group cheers. Two sparkle and shine awards for showing enthusiasm and smiles during their cheers. One improvement award that was received for working hard and determination to improve over the past four days. And one 110% award, which was received at the end of the four day camp for the girls giving their all throughout the week! Congratulations Girls!

The cheerleaders kept the school alive with many pep rallies, locker decorations, and dance routines. They also participated in the Homecoming Parade by having a pep rally on Main Street with a dance skit done with pillow people, the cheerleaders made. The cheerleaders did various dance routines during half-time of the boy's football and basketball games.

Cheerleading tryouts were held on March 12th for the new 1991-92 cheerleaders. A total of nine girls tried out. Each had to do a group and individual cheer, two jumps, and the Marquette School song. Next year's cheerleaders are Kelli Prichett, Kenji Lentz, Jennie Mersch, Jenny Christensen, Nikki Christenson, and Ginger Jesse as alternate. Congratulations Girls!

A special thanks and good-bye to our two devoted senior cheerleaders for their years of support and spirit as cheerleaders of Marquette High School.

Journalism

The journalism staff for the 1990-91 school year consisted of: Seniors, Peggy Swanson and Levi Reyner; Juniors, Jada Maruska, Kenji Lentz, Jenny Christensen, Jennie Mersch, and Kelli Pritchett; Sophomores, Nicole Christenson and Frank Jesse. This year's sponsor was Mrs. Ziegler.

This year saw a first for the yearbook staff. This was the first yearbook done by the desktop publishing method. The staff utilized a Macintosh computer system, laser printer, and desktop publishing software to complete their yearbook. Pictures were cut to fit and pasted down along with the copy, making it a camera ready page. Doing the yearbook this way not only gave the students a working knowledge of desktop publishing, but saved the school money by letting the staff do the work instead of the yearbook publishing company.

HOMECOMING 1990

This years homecoming activities started on Monday, October 8th. Spirit week began with MASH day. Tuesday was super hero day, Wednesday was Sesame Street character day, Thursday was Injury day, and Friday was Blue and Gold day. Friday afternoon the coronation ceremony was held at 1:30 in the gymnasium. The King candidates were Jason Christenson, Levi Reyner, Lonnie Jones, and Larry Nitzel. The Queen candidates were Jennifer Blake, Christy Arms, Peggy Swanson, and Carmen Christenson. Last years Queen, Kelli Nissen, and last years attendant, Bill Mersch, crowned the royalty. The crown bearers were Eric Swanson and Allyn Hermansen. This years Queen was Peggy Swanson and the King was Lonnie Jones. Following the coronation there was a parade and pep rally uptown. Each class was responsible for a float that had something to do with this years theme "Blaze of Glory". The floats were judged by non-class sponsors. The winners were: First place, Senior Class, Second place, Freshmen Class, Third place, and 7th grade class. First place prize was $15.00, the second place prize was $10.00, and the third place prize was $5.00. Each of the students in the three winning classes received a can of pop. The Homecoming dance was held Saturday night with the Knights of the Turntable providing the music.

Last years Queen Kelly Nissen and last years attendant Bill Mersch joined this years attendants Christy, Jason Jennifer, Larry, Carmen, and Levi, the crown bearers Allyn Hermansen and Eric Swanson, and Queen Peggy and King Lonnie for the Homecoming coronation.

Activities Banquet

What a party!

Activities Banquet was the last and final dance of the year. We started the evening with a dinner of ham, potatoes, and corn. After the dinner we were honored to have Bill Holliday from Loomis speak on making the most of ourselves.

Cindy Mingus was the Mistress of ceremonies. She did a very good job of embarrassing each teacher that talked.

When the banquet was over Lad photography took pictures of couples, friends, and classes. The music for the dance was provided by "Diamond Wheel" of Grand Island.

There was an after prom party held from 1:00 to 5:30 a.m. for the Freshmen, Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors.

The Class of 1991's Last Will and Testament

I Lonnie Jones, will to the following:

To Derek Ortegren, may he inherit my safe and courteous driving habits.

To Shelton Crouch, may he inherit my chair in band, and may it tip over for him also.

To Richie Collins: I will to him the understanding that pickups will never be flawless, because there's always someone like Mr. McIntyre to scratch it.

I Jennifer Blake will to the following:

To Jimmy Boyce and Dack Brophy, I will what's left of my tube of Colgate to take on the next Chicago trip.

To Carrie Brophy, I will any empty pop cans to stick on Ameila Nelson's seat.

To Jada Maruska, I will my talented curling wand and strong holding hairspray for those windy days in Chicago.

I Peggy Swanson will to the following:

To the 8th graders, I will my ability to go through four hard and strenuous high school years, and still have my sanity.

To Kelli, and Jennie Mersch, I will my ability to go to another town, raise some heck, and not get chased out!!

To AJ, I will my position as official teacher torturer, to make sure that they don't have it too easy, after I leave.

To the school: I will a life size poster of me. So that next year they can see my beautiful face even though I will not be here.

To Brenda K, I will my hurdling ability in track, in hopes that she goes out next year.

I Carmen Christenson will the following:

To Kevin Christenson, I will my ability not to have detention every Wednesday and Thursday!!!

To AJ, I will my dark hair because blonds do not have more fun.

I Jason Christenson will the following:

To Ryan C. Nelson, I will the ability to come to a complete stop behind a school bus displaying a stop sign.

I will, to the future president of the JFA, my ability to control the meetings and hopefully decide an issue with one vote.

To Richie Collins, I will my ability to drink a pop or juice and take numerous shortcuts while running the Spangler route without getting caught.

To Jennie Mersch, I will the ability to drive a stick shift without killing it at the stop signs and jerking down the road.

To Kenny, I will the ability to catch a fly ball without landing flat on my back.

To Sue, Frank, and any other bus driver employed by MHS, I will my bus driving skills.

And last but not least, I will to Mrs. Bart the desire to reward the advanced math class with an occasional free day.

I Levi Reyner, will to the following:

To Ryan C. Nelson, I will my ability to spin out and not get caught.

To Richie Collins, I will all of the dents and scratches on my car, so he can quit worrying about his pickup.

To Kelli, I will the ability to change her own fuses in her car so she doesn't have to be forever indebted to anyone else.

To Frank and Duane my ability to sweep the gym floor well!!!!

We the Senior Class, will to the following:

To the class of 92, we will our keen knowledge and great looks.

To the class of 93, we will our senior parking space, because with their driving habits and abilities they need all the room they can get.

To the class of 94, we will our ability to make money and to change sponsors as often as we did.

To the class of 95, we will our old socks to place in their mouths to provide them time to think before they speak.

To the teachers, we will the opportunity to have another class of our outstanding quality.

Prophecy

It is the year 2012 and we, the class of '92, were celebrating our twentieth year reunion. We had been discussing our 'ol high school days, when mention of the class '91 was brought up. No one was really sure what had become of them, so we trooped across the country in search of the missing class of '91.

It didn't take us long to find our first senior, for he had remained fairly close to home. As we traveled down Reyner Road, we found Levi out plowing under a very large portion of his crop. When we asked him what he was doing, he simply replied, "If I build it, he will come."

"If you build what, who will come?", we asked.

He said, "I am building a baseball field, a field of dreams, where he can play again."

"And just who is he?", we asked.

"The famous New York Mets pitcher, 'Shirtless Jason Christensen.'" Aha! We found not one, but two seniors! We told Levi we had to run and were off across the country in search of another lost senior. Our next stop--sunny California! We had heard through the grapevine that Peggy was working as a photographer for the very well-known publication Playgirl and was doing a photo shoot on a beach in Los Angeles. We arrived to find Peggy totally engrossed in her work. She did manage to get away for five minutes to talk with us though. When we asked her what she liked most about working for Playgirl, she replied, "Isn't it obvious? The year-round tan, of course." Well, that was enough to satisfy us. As we loaded back up into our car in search of more seniors, Richie, who was struck with a coordination attack, slammed his fingers in the car door. As he screamed in agony, we rushed to the nearest hospital, where we entered the emergency room and found our fourth senior. Christy, dressed in her white nurse's uniform, took one look at the blood spurting from his hand fainted, and fell to the floor. Needless to say, we didn't get a chance to speak to Christy, since she was still unconscious when we left.

Our next stop took us halfway around the country to Madison, Wisconsin. We heard that Lonnie has inherited a very large sum of money, and had started his own dairy operation. We were able to chat with Lonnie for quite some time. We asked him why he decided to go into the dairy business. He simply answered, "It's in my blood." Lonnie also helped us to find our next missing senior, Larry Nitzel. Lonnie had received a few letters from Larry over the years and he gave us his address. Back we went to California, only this time our destination was San Diego. We weren't able to speak with Larry, but we did find out that he is now a Drill Sergeant in the Marines. From San Diego we grabbed the next flight to Anchorage, Alaska, the home of the seventh missing senior. We found Jennifer settled in the center of a huge sheet of ice. We approached her cautiously and noticed that she had cut a hole through the ice and was preceeding to fish from it. We asked Jennifer, "Why ice-fishing? We had always thought that you wanted to be a secretary." She told us that there was a lot more money to be made in ice fishing. We also asked if she had any idea of where we could find the last missing senior. She informed us that Carmen had recently been married to a famous designer in Paris, and was now in the process of trying to adopt his four children. Jennifer, who had flown to Paris to attend the wedding ceremony the previous week, reported that Carmen was very happy with her new husband. She was now a high-class model wearing her husband's latest designs. Since we were all nearly out of money we weren't able to visit Carmen in Paris, but we did make it back to Nebraska.

Our search across the nation and beyond to find the class of '91 has ended at last. We wish the seniors the best of luck in the future, wherever they may be.

Levi, Jason, and Lonnie learn how to play miniature golf.

The Seniors left Marquette on Friday, May 3rd, at three o'clock a.m. and ventured to the Lake of the Ozarks. They stayed at the Kalfran Lodge, where they enjoyed swimming, boating, and fishing. In their spare time they went miniature golfing, (which the girls still owe a pop to each of the boys for losing), horseback riding, and cruising in go-karts. The Seniors also took part in getting an old fashion picture taken, as in making a tradition for the Senior Classes to come. On Saturday night, the Seniors ventured for some entertainment and went to the Main Opry to listen to some country singer and a comedian. On Sunday, they went to the Big Shot Amusement park, where they enjoyed riding bumper cars and boats, and playing miniature golf. Before leaving for good old Nebraska, they toured Bagnal Dam and just had to do a little shopping. Tired, bruised, and stuffed the Seniors leave the great Lake of the Ozarks to make it back to finish their last day at MHS.

The Senior Class experience the old west.

DORIS DAHLKE RETIRES AFTER 29 YEARS OF TEACHING

Doris has spent 29 years teaching Vocational Home Economics, three years at Stromsburg, Nebraska and 26 years at Marquette. Doris has been a member of the American Vocational Association, the Nebraska Vocational Association and the Nebraska Vocational Home Economics Teacher Association. She has served as advisor for the local Future Homemakers of America, and has also served as District Advisor two terms and District SEARCH advisor.

Mrs. Dahlke is a native of Pawnee City. Her father was a vo-ag teacher who taught 44 years and was recognized by the FFA.

Doris is a member of the National Education Association, Nebraska State Education Association and the Marquette Education Association.

Doris and Jim Dahlke have two children; Deborah is a registered nurse and is working with an insurance company in Omaha. David is an electronic engineer with Boeing Aircraft Company in Everett, Washington. The Dahlke's first grandchild is due in September.

Jim has worked as a school principal or science teacher for 36 years. Both Jim and Doris are going to miss the students, teachers, staff, and school patrons that they have worked with over the years. "We are happy that we choose to work in the field of education. It has been a very rewarding and challenging career."

"We are looking forward to a chance to spend some time on the many hobbies that we enjoy. Gardening, camping, traveling, model railroading, sewing, volunteer work in the community and more time with our families are in our plans for the future."
